Woman sues dentist ex-boyfriend for $16M over sexy pics

MARK MORALES AND OREN YANIV

Wednesday, October 10, 2012

She put a lawsuit under her pillow, and is hoping the tooth fairy will come back with $16 million.

A young Russian immigrant claims her vengeful ex-boyfriend — a Brooklyn dentist nearly twice her age — set up a phony escort profile using her sexy pictures and then sent the link to immigration officials, according to court documents.

But the former flame, Vladimir Dranovsky, 42, fired back, saying she's a gold-digging vixen who just trumped up charges to extort money from him.

Ruzilya Khusnutdinova, 24, said she got the shock of her life when U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement officers came knocking at her Brooklyn home in May and asked if she was a call girl. They showed her an ad on a website called escortsexguide.com that featured images of her sprawled across a hotel bed in a cheap black bra and thong.

The profile, which was still online Tuesday evening, boasts "a medium frame, and very touchy breasts," and offers an explicit menu of sexual services, "from $200 to $600 per hour, depends on fantasy."

"They pulled out my naked pictures," the blushing brunette recalled Tuesday. "At first, I'm scared . . . surprised and shocked."

Khusnutdinova claims the photos were snapped in 2010 during a romantic trip to Lake George with then-boyfriend Dranovsky. They broke up the following year.

Todd Maisel/New York Daily News Dentist Vladimir Dranovsky says Khusnutdinova is a gold-digging vixen who trumped up charges to extort him.

The seedy setup is part of a bombshell lawsuit filed in Brooklyn Supreme Court demanding Dranovsky and the company hosting the profile pay $16 million in damages.

"She had to change her residence, as she is in constant fear for her life and safety," the lawsuit claims.

But the dentist says that the petite Russian actually was a sex worker.

"She told me she was working for an escort service," a shocked-looking Dranovsky told the Daily News from his modest corner dental practice on Bay Ridge Parkway. "Maybe she's blaming me just to get out of it."

Lake George in 2010.

Dranovsky, who claimed this was the first time he'd heard of the accusations, said he couldn't remember snapping pictures of her and has never heard of the escort site.

"She's just probably making it up because she wants to get some money," he said.
